The following is a list of vehicles with an Event Data Recorder (EDR) installed by the manufacturer. The list is of those vehicles that are capable of storing crash data records that can be recovered using commercially available equipment.

The data table is sorted in order by year, make and model. This list ends with the 2014 model year. For 2015 and later vehicles, please contact us.

The amount and type of information stored, and the conditions that will cause a crash record to be created, varies greatly. For the most part, a crash record will consist of approximately five seconds of pre-impact data that can include vehicle speed, brake application, engine speed, throttle position and more. A record may also include crash force information.

The list has been compiled from various sources and may not include all vehicles with an EDR. Please contact us for confirmation.

If you are an attorney, insurance company representative or commercial vehicle fleet operator, and would like to arrange the recovery of data from a vehicle, or if you need further information about a specific vehicle, please call us at 1-772-336-2279 or 1-305-432-2116.

Harris Technical Services provides fully qualified forensic experts in traffic accident reconstruction that can recover and analyze the crash data.
